Established in 1966 as a Model Cities program, Nurtury Early Education at 243 Harvard Street was built by the City of Cambridge and offers the children in our care innovative, state-of-the-art program space. The center includes a new infant/toddler component to meet the high demand for this care in the Cambridge community. Nurtury-Harvard Street serves up to 65 infants, toddlers and preschoolers at the center. As part of Nurtury's agreement with the City of Cambridge, our rent is reinvested in the community by the City to provide tuition assistance to Cambridge residents using the program.

OUR MISSION & HISTORY

Nurtury Early Education gives Greater Boston's youngest children in need, birth to age five, the opportunity to reach their full potential by investing in school readiness, promoting healthy development, and strengthening families.

When our first program opened in 1878, Nurtury became New England's first early education and care agency. Since then, Nurtury has transformed child care to include high-quality educational programming and family support resources. We also embrace a leadership role in the early education field in Greater Boston, collaborating with fellow provider organizations, and advocating for the early education workforce at the state level.

Through our center-based programs and family child care system, we have touched generations of children and their families. Every year we care for and educate over 1,000 of Greater Boston's youngest and most vulnerable children at five early learning centers and 140 family child care homes in our network.
